

There is not enough diversity in TV or radio. The consolidation of radio and TV stations under large corporations has resulted in less local programming, a narrowing of viewpoints, and poor service to local communities. The fact that I only read about the FCC hearing in an independent paper and not on any radio, newspaper, or TV news station is an example of the limiting of information that resulted from consolidation of media outlets. Individual corporations should be further limited in their media ownership not allowed further expansion.
